

Tales for Dark Nights: The Shortest Spooky Tale...?

It was a dark and stormy night.

Two men sat on a bridge.

One said to the other, "I don't believe in ghosts... do you?"

"Oh yes," said the other man... and vanished.

This is the shortest spooky tale I know. Can you make up one that's even shorter (and spookier)?

© Bob Pegg, October 2008